Paul Bragg, Cemetery Sexton, gave an update on the operations of the Glasgow Municipal Cemetery. He said since the City took over the operation of the cemetery in 1989, there have been 3,270 burials and stated there should be enough land at this location for 30-40 more years of burials. Along with Paul, he and his staff (total four full-time and one part-time employee), mow over 1,000 acres in one mowing season. Council Member Isenberg acknowledged Paul and his staff for maintaining a beautiful cemetery and the Glasgow Garden club for a great job they do to keep the front entrance attractive. Isenberg said he would like to see some research done on the beginning of the cemetery to be archived for future generations. Mayor Trautman commended Mr. Bragg for the excellent job he does at the cemetery.
